DIAMONDHEAD

It was neck-and-neck Tuesday evening at Diamondhead City Hall as the votes were hand-counted in the runoff election between incumbent Ward 1 Councilman Shane Finley and his opponent, Michael J. Fandal, but Finley emerged with a two-point victory, winning 118-116 in unofficial totals. Diamondhead City Clerk Jeannie Klein said one affidavit ballot remained to be counted on Wednesday, but it shouldn't affect the outcome of the race.

"I want to say thank you to my opponent for running such a classy race," Finley said Tuesday evening. "I made a new friend and, hopefully, we'll work together to continue to make Diamondhead a better place."

Finley had the edge in the April 1 primary, earning 181 votes to Fandal's 126 and Cle Collins' 123.

All the other Diamondhead races were definitively settled in the primary, including current Ward 2 Councilwoman Anna Liese for mayor; At-Large Councilman Gerard Maher; Ward 3 council winner Jessie Harwood; and Ward 4 Councilman Austin Clark.

There were no Democratic candidates for any of the offices on the ballot for Tuesday's Diamondhead municipal primaries, so the primary winners will all take office without having to take part in a general election.

"I am continually impressed by our community's spirit," Waveland Mayor Jay Trapani said. "It is truly heartwarming to see everyone coming together to celebrate Easter.

"The event organizers, including the Hancock County Tourism Board and the employees of Waveland, did a fantastic job creating a memorable day. The Easter parade attracted both young and old to enjoy the lovely weather, and the Easter egg hunt

Fugitive who jumped off bridge into Bay to avoid arrest apprehended in Florida

SEA COAST ECHO

Florida authorities last week arrested a man who had allegedly jumped off a bridge into the Bay of St. Louis to evade Hancock County sheriff's deputies.

"We are truly thankful to the Hillsborough County Sheriff's Office for their assistance in apprehending Mark Hutchinson on felony charges of Drug Trafficking, Eluding Law Enforcement and Malicious Mischief," Hancock County Sheriff Ricky Adam's office posted on social media.

"Mark Hutchinson, 28, of Tampa, Florida chose to drive through Hancock County last Thursday night with a large quantity of THC edibles," according to the post. "After stopping to converse with one of our interdiction agents, he decides to drive off, initiating a lengthy pursuit through our fine community. With no destination in mind and no worry in the world, he crossed the Bay bridge and soon wrecked his rental vehicle on the Henderson Point bridge."

Deputies said Hutchinson then decided to dive into the water, "except, there was no water. Instead, Hutchinson face-planted on hard, cold, muddy ground … . But, Hutchinson persevered and was able to avoid arrest — for the moment. … Long story

Bay lives up to 'Music City' name with concert series

The Dave Mayley performs last week during the first installment of this year's "Wednesdays at the Depot" concert series.

BY GEOFF BELCHER
PUBLISHER

The Dave Mayley Band last week kicked off the Hancock County Tourism Bureau's "Wednesdays at the Depot" concert series.

Wednesdays at the Depot is a free public monthly celebration held every third Wednesday of the month, from last week through Nov. 19.

"Wednesdays at the Depot is more than just an event; it's a monthly gathering that celebrates the rich culture and vibrant spirit of Hancock County," Hancock Tourism Executive Director McKenzey Northington said in a press release.

Last week's event drew a huge crowd to the Bay's historic Depot grounds.

Mayley said his band was "super excited" about kicking off the monthly concert series and "so excited" that the Rotary Club of Bay St. Louis sponsored the event.

"But most of all, hats off to McKenzey Northington," Mayley said. "McKenzey organized this whole thing and this is the second year she's done it. It's a great event, a gathering of the community, and it's part of what Bay St. Louis is all about. I believe we were voted the number one music city on the Coast, and these kinds of events show why."

Bay St. Louis was awarded Music City of the Year at the inaugural Third Coast Music Awards on April 7 at the Ground Zero Blues Club Biloxi. Bay Mayor Mike Farve was on hand to accept the award.

The Third Coast Music Awards were established to honor the musicians, hosts, production, and venues that support live music on the Mississippi Gulf Coast. Nominees were chosen by votes from the public, and the Bay St Louis area was well-represented.

Local favorite, Joni Compretta & Baytown Groove, won Best Cover Band. Other local bands nominated for awards were Assumed Risk (Best Rock Band) and Crow the Culprit (Best Rock Band and Best Country Band). Wes Sanderford was nominated for Best Solo Male.

Local businesses were also recognized. Dan B's was nominated for Best Local Indoor Venue, and The Ugly Pirate was nominated for the Best Outdoor Venue. Rags to Riches scored a nomination for Best Karaoke Venue.

The next "Wednesdays at the Depot" concert is scheduled to begin at 5:30 p.m. on Wednesday, May 21, featuring the Stacy Weaver Band.

The events are free and open to the public.

Lamy said. "I understand that there's been people out there with a megaphone hollering 'change, change, change'"

Board president Scotty Adam said, "it's not about removing the person, if the seat is up. They're not being removed, they're just being replaced because time's up."

Lamy said Pearlington has "always had a tough, tough time" getting people to sit on the Pearlington Water and Sewer District Board.

"This person that's not being reappointed, she just became chairman, got bonded for the utility authority and she is the one that's been through the master training courses," Lamy said. "And it's just, to me, there's other people that could be removed and this person could be in place, not a sitting board member that sits on the utility authority. It really shows poor judgement and I get it, you have the right to do that."

Rosa Jackson, who said she is one of the longest-sitting board members, said "it's a community thing."

"We've had diversity on that board since it was established and we'd like to respectfully keep that diversity," she said. "Because it is a community of diversity and we want to keep a community of diversity and we want to represent all the people of Pearlington, not just a select group."

Later in the meeting, the board approved District 1 Supervisor Donald Wayne Graham's motion to sign the resolution appointing Cheryl Bennett to the Pearlington Water and Sewer District for a five-year term.

Bennett replaces board member Cabrina Bell, whose term has expired.

During public comment, the board heard from Pearlington resident Sharon Maggio.

"I've listened as the community has gotten involved with what's going on with the water board," she said. "It started with the rate increases where it got community input. I don't feel the current board is acting in the best interest of the community. All I've heard them say is 'we're the squeaky wheel.' I brought up about the term ending, that there were being expiring terms, and not a lot of discussion about it, and they appointed someone whose term was up to be the board chairman and, at the last meeting, they blamed the residents for wasting money. They are mismanaging that board. They put somebody in that position as chairman who they knew term was expired. And they bonded her and then they're blaming the community for being the squeaky wheel."

Maggio said, as a community, they've asked questions.

"We're not getting any reply until last Monday," she said. "We finally filed for a request and now we're starting to get answers to some of our questions. So, I just wanted y'all to hear from a community member about what's going on there."

In other action:

The board approved the appointment of Carolyn Greenwald as a commissioner for the Bayside Fire Department Commissioner's Board.

The next meeting is scheduled for May 5 at 9 a.m.

The Unseen Students Left Behind

Why Mississippi Needs More Occupational Diplomas

GUEST COLUMN
BY SYDNEY HEATH

Damien was always a hard worker and respectful in class. At 14, he was nearly three years older than his classmates and towered over them. Even though he repeated 6th grade last year, Damien found it impossible to read vocabulary words like "preliminary," "boisterous," and "equivalent," which the other kids in his class read quickly. Despite his best efforts and the help of his teachers, Damien had a hard time envisioning graduating from high school or even getting through the year.

Damien's teachers and I knew that his IQ of 68 indicated cognitive challenges. We also knew that Damien had superior practical abilities, often called 'real world knowledge' or 'street smarts.' With the help of his uncle, Damien learned how to weld, and his dreams of pursuing welding as a career bloomed. Even though he had high adaptive skills in real-world situations, like being able to learn a trade and navigate the school and community independently, those skills did not help bridge the gap Damien had in cognitive abilities, preventing him from passing general education courses, exams, and dreaded state tests. As Damien's inclusion teacher, I worked with him for three hours daily on reading and math. Although he had trouble reading and writing, he listened well and comprehended spoken content. Even so, Damien needed a lot of individualized and special support to participate in grade-level work, such as someone reading aloud test directions, questions, and answer choices. Other accommodations to help Damien learn included shortened assignments, the chunking of large assignments into achievable tasks, and the use of graphic organizers and memory aids. It is a cruel irony that Damien's excellent adaptive skills in real-world settings disqualify him from being eligible to earn an alternate high school diploma. Such programs are reserved for

Hancock History: Growing up Downtown Bay St. Louis

HANCOCK HISTORY
BY JAMES KEATING M.D.

Bay St. Louis has been a small, sleepy weekend community where many of our "old timers" enjoyed a quintessential small town American experience back in the 1940s to the 1970s. Pat Murphy is a Bay St. Louis local who captures history in his new book, "Growing Up Downtown Bay St. Louis." The photobook and memoir is an invaluable source of detailed information for this historian.

The book is a personal story of one man's coming of age in this small Mississippi town. Murphy remembers the townsfolk, the traditions, the Main Street atmosphere, and what was lost and what remains after the storms. For fifty years, Pat Murphy has collected photos, stories, and many personal recollections. Murphy relates Tom Sawyer-like summer adventures with friends and stories about many odd-ball, lovable characters. The book is a memorable snapshot in time and a piece of Mississippi Gulf Coast history that will now be preserved.

Chapters include Murphy's memories of his grandfather's business on Main Steet, the restaurants and bakeries, the stores, the hotels and bars, the parades and celebrations, the souvenir shops, the hurricanes, and other lived experiences of the author. Murphy crafted this book with the assistance of the Hancock County Historical Society, James Carville, author Ken Murphy, local groups and volunteers. President of the Society Chris Roth said about the about this book: It just gives that you that history that's gone. It's not like you can just go look at this building thirty years later. It may not be there anymore. Pat has captured in his book the buildings and the people that aren't with us anymore. And that's history.

Pat Murphy is a writer, artist, musician, and avid historian. He was born in 1949 in this little town at the King's Daughters and Sons Hospital on Carroll Avenue. He was delivered by Dr. Marian Wolfe. His childhood was spent living the quintessential small town American

Conservation Corner: Environmental Quality Incentives Program

GUEST COLUMN
BY JAMES L. CUMMINS

The United States Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Natural Resource Conservation Service (NRCS) has a vision statement of a world of clean and abundant water, healthy soils, resilient landscapes, and thriving agricultural communities through voluntary conservation. The NRCS provides agricultural producers and landowners with programs funded within the Farm Bill. Through these Farm Bill programs, NRCS fulfills their moto of "helping people help their land."

Within the Farm Bill is the Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP), which is administered by the NRCS to private landowners and producers.

The EQIP provides financial cost-share payments for the implementation of conservation practices to eligible producers and landowners. Applications are currently being accepted for continuous sign-up at your local USDA Service Center. Although applications are accepted continually, each state has a deadline for both ranking and funding. When your application is submitted will determine which funding period you will be entered in. If you are not sure where your local service center is located, or how you can contact them, please search for USDA NRCS Mississippi. Once you reach the NRCS Mississippi webpage click the tab "contact us," select local service centers, and select the county in which your property or farm is located.

Any farmer, producer, or landowner is eligible for assistance through the EQIP. These producers can be row crop producers, specialty and/or organic producers, livestock producers, or landowners interested in wildlife and/or forestry. Producers interested in the EQIP must also have farm records established with the Farm Services Agency (FSA). Also, new in the 2018 Farm Bill, historically underserved producers can receive both increased and advanced payments in aid of implementing these conservation practices to their operation. Historically underserved producers include farmers and producers that are beginning, limited resource, socially disadvantaged, and/or military veterans.

Over 200 various practices are available to producers and landowners through the EQIP to meet national resource concerns such as sedimentation and soil erosion, water quality, air quality, soil health, livestock production and efficiency, and wildlife habitat.

The NRCS provides financial and technical assistance to landowners and producers with the initiative to implement these conservation practices. Staff from the NRCS will work with producers one-on-one to develop a conservation plan based on the producer's goals, needs, and vision for their property, as well as help with the implementation of the practice selected by the landowner.

The goal of these plans is to incorporate practices that will both benefit the environment and boost productivity and efficiency of agricultural and/or forestry production systems.

If you are interested in the EQIP for your property or have any questions about the EQIP, please contact your local USDA office.

James L. Cummins is executive director of Wildlife Mississippi, a nonprofit conservation organization founded to conserve, restore, and enhance fish, wildlife, and plant resources throughout Mississippi. Their website is www.wildlifemiss.org.

Partners for Stennis and Michoud honored for Port Air Space Day at PRAM state conference

SPECIAL TO THE ECHO

Partners for Stennis & Michoud was recently recognized with a Certificate of Merit for its signature event, Port Air Space Day in the Bay, during the 2025 Public Relations Association of Mississippi (PRAM) State Conference. The award was presented at the PRism Awards ceremony held Monday, April 14th, at the Golden Nugget Hotel & Casino in Biloxi.

Presented annually, the PRism Awards honor outstanding work in public relations across the state. This year's entries were judged by members of the Cincinnati Chapter of the Public Relations Society of America (PRSA), bringing a high standard of excellence to the competition.

Port Air Space Day in the Bay, which highlights innovation and collaboration in Mississippi's aerospace, maritime, and defense sectors, continues to grow in visibility and impact. The 2025 event is set for Saturday, November 8th.

"We're incredibly proud to be recognized by PRAM for Port Air Space Day," said Anne Pitre, Marketing & Communications Manager for Partners for Stennis & Michoud. "This event is the result of tremendous teamwork. From the volunteers who help tell our story to the local, regional, and national partners who bring their resources and energy to the event—it's a shared success. We all play a role in making Port Air Space Day what it is, and we're excited to continue building on that momentum in 2025."

short, after a 50 foot drop and despite his inevitable soreness, Hutchinson made it back to Tampa where he eventually caved and went to his hometown urgent care to have those aching bones checked out. What happens next? Those Mississippi narcs get a notification on the phone he left behind in the vehicle … asking them to rate the service you just received at said hometown urgent care."

Local deputies then reached out to Florida deputies, and the Hillsborough County Sheriff's Office served a felony extradition warrant last Tuesday.

"Deputies gave several commands asking Hutchinson to come out of the home, but he refused," Hillsborough Sheriff Chad Chronister said on social media. "After multiple warnings, including K9 announcements, Hutchinson eventually complied and was taken into custody without incident."

Hutchinson is being extradited back to Hancock County on the charges.

Hancock deputies gave a special thank-you to officers of the Harrison County Sheriff's Office for their assistance in the investigation.

students with significant cognitive and adaptive disabilities.

In Mississippi, students like Damien frequently become trapped, forced to choose between following a traditional academic pathway, which is impossible for them to pass, or failing to complete high school and dropping out. We need a third choice. For Damien, a reinstated occupational diploma program would be a life changer. Such a program would combine specialized academic requirements, practical skills training, and career-focused courses. It would prepare Damien for independent living, vocational training, and fulfilling work as a welder.

To ensure that Damien gains literacy skills, an occupational program could incorporate assistive technology, including text-to-speech software, immersive hands-on learning, modified reading materials, and alternative assessment techniques such as oral presentations, video projects, and skill demonstrations. In such a program, Damien would concentrate on acquiring useful workforce skills rather than failing academic courses that he is unable to pass. If he got a welding certification, he could start working as soon as he graduated from high school. What's more, if Damien and others like him had access to career pathways, they would help replenish Mississippi's workforce in manufacturing, trades, and healthcare. Students could become mechanics, electricians, healthcare assistants, and more if our state's education was in line with industry needs.

In neighboring Alabama, for example, high school students have different ways to earn their diplomas in addition to the traditional path. They can take a career-focused route by completing and passing the ACT WorkKeys exam or earning a professional certification, which helps them step straight into the workforce. For students with learning challenges, there's also the Essential Pathways option, which provides extra support and accommodations to ensure students like Damien still have a clear path to graduation.

If Damien could concentrate on welding, he would feel more confident knowing that he is working towards a fulfilling profession rather than trying and failing to complete school. I know that Damien would proudly graduate with an occupational diploma. His family would be there on graduation night to cheer on the first in their family to walk across the stage with his peers to accept his diploma. Instead of keeping his head down, he would hold it high. Let's make the occupational diploma a reality so that students like Damien can achieve their dreams and make a valuable contribution to Mississippi's workforce.

Thomas Elgin Dorsey, "Tommy"

Thomas Elgin Dorsey, "Tommy", but most importantly known as "PawPaw", passed away Saturday, April 5, 2025.

Tommy was born in Oxford, Mississippi, on August 1, 1947 to Warren Candler Dorsey, Sr. and Karleen Ramsey Dorsey.

Preceded in death by his loving parents, Tommy is survived by one brother Warren Candler Dorsey, Jr. (Suzan); two daughters Anne McCauley (Michael); Alexandra Smith (Kristopher); seven grandchildren: Ashlyn, Amery, Tommy ("Smart Tommy"), Sarah Jane, Bryson, Charlie, and Krislynn; one great grandchild on the way; and two nephews Benton and Daniel Dorsey. Tommy is also survived by his devoted partner and traveling companion of 30+ years Catherine Barksdale, her two children Edward Gibson (Susan) and Russell Barksdale, and was known as "Faux" Paw to Edward's three children: Ellen, Catie, and Cash. He is also survived by his former wife and mother of his children, Dinah "Madison" Bowen.

A fan of the great outdoors and long road trips, he enjoyed traveling with his family. From the West Coast to the East Coast, Tommy logged hundreds of miles throughout the country on foot, by bike, and by kayak, tackling such feats as hiking the John Muir Trail and summiting the highest mountain in the contiguous U.S. Mount Whitney, riding the length of the Katy bike trail, and paddling to Horn Island and down the Buffalo River. He also thoroughly enjoyed time spent with his children and grandchildren, Kansas City football, and a good IPA.

Tommy was a singer, which is a talent he continued to develop long after his days of singing with the Murrah High School Singers. He was a dedicated choir member at St Peters by the Lake in Brandon, MS, and later at St Phillips Episcopal Church in Jackson, MS. He went on to sing in the chorus with the Mississippi Opera performing in such productions as The Marriage of Figaro, Carmen, and Rigoletto.

Tommy was a graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi, where he also played football, and after graduation served in the Army during the Vietnam War. He retired from a career in public service as Director of Law Enforcement, Mississippi Department of Transportation. He also served the State of Mississippi through his service in the Attorney General's office and the Governor's office. He developed a program after Hurricane Katrina awarding grants to artists, who he recognized are a vital part of the culture and economy of the Mississippi Coast.

Two million dollars was dispensed to artists along the coast for their recovery.

A Celebration of Life will be held on May 24, 2025, 11:30 AM at Christ Church in Bay St Louis, MS.

In lieu of flowers, a donation may be made to the American Civil Liberties Union of Mississippi Foundation or Mississippi Public Broadcasting Foundation. Please indicate Tommy Dorsey Memorial on the memo line of the check. Donations to MPB can be made online at mpbonline.org and then send an email to lisa@mpbfoundation.org to notate a donation was made in memory of Tommy Dorsey and request to notify Anne McCauley.

Tommy handled all things with grace and humor, and he helped us understand and interpret life with compassion and wisdom. To be with him was to laugh. To know him was to be loved.

Edmond Fahey Funeral Home is honored to serve the family of Thomas "Tommy" Elgin Dorsey.

Laurin Ann LaFontaine

Our beloved Granny, Laurin Ann LaFontaine, passed away at the age of 72 on Wednesday, April 16, 2025. She is survived by her daughter Vicki Lynn Favre (Brian); her son Terrell O. LaFontaine, II (Julie); her five grandchildren: Natalie, Emily (Josh), Erin, Ethan, Evan; her siblings: Donald Favre (Dawn); Keith Favre; her sister-in-law Elaine Favre; her nieces and nephews: Jennifer (Michelle), Josh, Jason, Jacob, Michelle, Keene, Conor, Colin, Kyle, Kelly, Keith, Kim, Kendall, Alisha, Shea, Heather, Tyler, Ledier, Priscilla, Kevin, Tara; and her many great nieces and nephews, as well as their children. She was preceded in death by her husband, Terrell O. LaFontaine; her grandparents Alphonse Favre, Sr. and Inez Blaize & Albert Monti and Victoria Dillman; parents, Lydia Monti Favre and A.G. Favre, Jr.; her brother, Gabe Favre; her sister Adele Favre; nephew Chad LaFontaine; and niece Stephanie Favre.

Laurin Ann was a member of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church, leader of Girl Scout Troop 453, and a former treasurer & hamburger chef of Bay St. Louis Little League, but her greatest joys remained elsewhere. After 40 years working in the finance department at St. Stanislaus, Laurin Ann joined her husband Terrell in retirement, hitting every casino they could with her in-laws. They were Wednesday regulars at the Island View and loved the occasional weekend getaway to try their luck at the casinos in Philadelphia, MS (Laurin Ann swore she was cursed at every slot machine since Terrell always took home the biggest winnings). The only thing Laurin Ann loved more than a good book was a good movie; she had the biggest DVD/VCR collection, from Disney animations to classic Western movies. While she could cook just about anything and everything you could ask for, she was best known for her red velvet cake and bread pudding. Her talents knew no bounds: if she wasn't making a delicious home-cooked meal, she was busy cross-stitching and sewing countless gifts for those she loved. Her love language was certainly acts of service, and she never failed to make others feel special.

She was the perfect example of a strong matriarch for her family and took the role proudly. She always welcomed everyone to a snack, a drink, and a piece of candy from her wide assortment on the table. You could always count on her to be one of the first people to call for your birthday and send a perfectly picked out card. Her ability to correctly answer even the most complicated form of mental math was just as impressive as her ability to remember everyone's birthday or anniversary.

She could tell you everyone's family heritage down to the first ancestor (and all of their birthdays as well).

Laurin Ann was fiercely loyal to those closest to her, but no one came close to her five grandbabies. She loved them more than anything in the world, and they will carry on her memory and legacy forever. Her caring smile and love will live on through everyone who was lucky enough to know her. While everyone will miss her deeply, it brings great comfort and joy to know that she is finally reunited with her Terrell.

Services will be held Friday, April 25, 2025, at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis, MS.

Visitation will be held from 9:30 a.m. until 11:00 a.m. with a Mass of Christian Burial to follow.

Interment will be held at a later date.

In lieu of flowers, please consider a donation to Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church to be used for Catholic education.

Edmond Fahey Funeral home is honored to serve the family of Laurin Ann LaFontaine.

experience where "everyone in town knew everyone else. And if they didn't know you, they knew your family. It was a different day and time from the one we know today."

An interesting tidbit of history was the ferry boat that took autos and passengers back and forth across the bay before the old wooden bridge was constructed in 1927. The ferry dock on the Bay St. Louis side was located on North Beach Boulevard near DeMontluzin Street. The bridge was built at the head of Ulman Avenue which was Highway 90. The main business district of Bay St. Louis ran along Ulman Avenue to the beach and down Beach Boulevard. Located within a few blocks of the beach on Ulman Avenue was Adam's Loraine Flower Shop, the Reed Hotel, and at least five or six gas stations that functioned as mechanic shops as well. Downtown Bay St. Louis was a place where locals could find anything that they needed: from restaurants, bars, car dealerships, department stores, and grocery stores. Everything that the shopper needed was right there in "Old Town" within a few blocks. Murphy said "We didn't realize then just how fortunate we were at the time"

Murphy takes the reader on a veritable walking tour through downtown Beach Boulevard, Main and Second Street, and the Depot Area. Each building or business is described with heartfelt anecdotes and amazing photographs of the place and proprietors. The chapter describing the Hancock County Courthouse was this author's favorite history. Public hangings were held on the Gex Street east side of the courthouse that always drew large crowds. After 1920, the State went to the electric chair and held executions using a portable electric chair that went by the irreverent nickname of "Old Sparky."

This wonderful history book can be purchased at Bay Life (a gift shop in Century Hall), Midtown Pharmacy and Gifts, and at the Hancock County Historical Society on 108 Cue Street. The telephone number of the Society is 228 467 4090. The hours of operation are Monday through Friday 10AM to 12PM and 1PM-3PM.

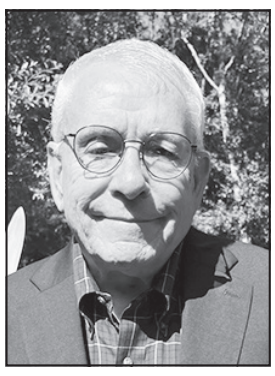
A Prayer to Consider

By REV. C. GERALD RICHARDSON, D. MIN



C. Gerald Richardson, D. MIN.

Alan Paton was a South African leader, educator, reformer, and writer who lived in the early 20th Century. He lived in the time of apartheid in his home country. His work and writing are often remembered for his courageous stance against the racist laws and customs of the culture in which he lived. Probably his best-known work was the beautiful novel Cry the Beloved Country which was highly valued in many parts of the world of his day. He was also known for some of his poems and prayers, many of which found their way into various prayer books and hymnals of Christian churches as well as other publications of spiritual significance.

In a lot of ways, he was ahead of his time. Sometimes he was met with challenges from those who desired to avoid the compassion and change which he advocated. He sought to volunteer for military service in opposition to the Hitler regime during World War II, but the South African government at the time refused to allow him to enlist. One of his prayers, published in 1968 by Seabury Press spoke of his longing for justice. It remains relevant to this day.

O Lord,
Open my eyes that I may see the needs of others;
open my ears that I may hear their cries;
open my heart so that they need not be without succor;
let me not be afraid to defend the weak because of the anger of the strong, nor afraid to defend the poor because of the anger of the rich.
Show me where love and hope and faith are needed;
and use me to bring them to those places;
And so open my eyes and my ears that I may this coming day be able to do some work of peace for thee. Amen.

This attitude of compassion and grace is of universal importance. The history of the world is replete with examples of people who wish to dominate the minds and actions of others. Spiritual teaching has long stood against such thinking. Regardless of the spiritual label or banner under which one seeks to live, if it is authentic, it leads to just such longing as expressed in the prayer of Paton.

In our own time, we continue to need to be reminded of the profound calling which human beings have received to work for justice, mercy, love, and grace. None of us are likely to live up to the highest of these ideals, but we can still hold them as personal values, and we can seek to live them to the best of our ability.

Our world is often challenged by a tendency to greed, self-interest. and a willingness to try to take advantage of those who are weak, poor, or otherwise in need. Spiritual faith beckons us to a better way. The prayer of Alan Paton is a summons to a more hopeful manner of living. It is worthy of consideration.
